

Westphalian foal auction online

The Westphalian foal auctions keep running

Münster: The Westphalian foal auctions continue in a two-week rhythm. Every Monday at 7.30 pm the online BidUps of the current foal collection begin. 33 young Westphalians will be up for sale from May 27 to 31.

It never gets boring at the Westfälisches Pferdestammbuch. Every Monday an exclusive selection of the youngest Westphalians is for sale in an online auction. The current foal collection has 33 up-and-coming stars to offer. A selection of 21 dressage and 12 show jumping aspirants has been chosen by the Westphalian sales team. Offspring from the first years of young stallions are just as impressive as daughters and sons of well-proven sires.

Among the young stallions Raven and Taurus attract attention with the offspring of their first vintage. These young sires send foals with first-class movement quality and that certain something to the Westphalian auction stage. The blood of the popular Vitalis flows through his sons in further quality foals. Cornet Obolensky once again drew attention to his sire quality at the last foal auction with impressive offspring. In this lot his son Comme il faut NRW presents two more offspring. International show jumping stallions like Eldorado van de Zeshoek or Emerald van het Ruytershof round off the quality selection of show jumping foals.

The collection is now available with complete pedigree information as well as photos and videos at onlineauction.westfalenpferde.de. Bids can be placed from May 27 to 31. The BidUps will start as usual on Monday evening May 31 at 7.30 pm.
